

Although plaintiffs do not oppose defendant's motions in limine, requests 1, 4, and 6 do not describe the evidence to be excluded with sufficient specificity to enable the Court to enforce an exclusionary ruling. The rules of evidence will apply at trial, and the Court will enforce the rules of discovery. Any further limitation on the admissibility of evidence is unwarranted based on the present record.

Plaintiff does not objection to motions in limine 7, 8, 9, 10, and 11. Those motions
